

Update on the DC Department of Public Works (DPW) Operating Status during COVID-19 Emergency

What is our operating status?

The DC Department of Public Works (DPW) remains open. Street sweeping has been suspended indefinitely.

How does this impact what we do?

- Vital Services – no change; DPW remains open to provide vital services to residents of the District of Columbia.
- Street Sweeping – suspended indefinitely to provide continuous residential parking for those residents working from home.

How does this impact our physical locations?

- No Change - DPW remains open to provide vital services to residents of the District of Columbia.

What else are we offering to meet your needs?

As part of our continued effort to slow the spread of coronavirus (COVID-19) infections in DC and the region, Mayor Bowser announced agency-specific policies that are designed to keep District Government employees and residents safe, while continuing to provide vital services to District residents, businesses, and visitors, as we respond to this health emergency.

What precautions are we taking to limit the spread of the coronavirus (COVID-19)?

Our employees are taking precautions to keep themselves healthy and limit the spread of infections like regularly washing their hands, cleaning facilities more frequently, and reducing close contact with each other and residents. Employees have been instructed to let their supervisor know immediately if they feel sick.

Where should you go if you have questions?
